READING

- The Forest of Enchantments, Chitra Banerjee Divakaruni — The Ramayana retold through Sita's eyes. It showed me that quiet strength and the courage to choose your own path can be the most powerful kind of bravery
- The Palace of Illusions, Chitra Banerjee Divakaruni — The Mahabharata told in Draupadi's voice. It reminded me that every story changes depending on who tells it, and made me more curious about the voices we rarely hear
- Atomic Habits, James Clear — Remarkable results come from tiny changes repeated every day. It changed how I set goals: I now focus on building the right routine rather than chasing the outcome
- Healing Is the New High, Vex King — Healing is not a straight line, and real growth starts with being honest with yourself. It taught me to be patient and gentle with myself on difficult days
- Good Vibes, Good Life, Vex King — Self-love is not selfish; it is the foundation for everything else. It helped me understand that respecting myself and setting healthy boundaries is what allows me to show up fully for others
